COLISS CITIZENS CAPTURE ROBBER

Villagers Arm and Surround Building; Bandit Loses Nerve; Jailed.

Racine.—The village of Corlies, seven miles west of here, had a thrilling hour on Friday morning when an attempt was made by William McCray, colored, to hold up the Corlies State bank. After the firing of several shots and much excitement, McCray gave himself up and is lodged in jail here.

It was shortly before the hour for opening when McCray followed Louis Kradwell, cashier into the building. At the point of a large navy revolver, he forced Kradwell to point and post signs reading "This bank is closed" and then draw the shades. He then demanded entrance to the vault. Kradwell told him he would have to wait until 9 o'clock, as the strong box was controlled by a time lock. When Kradwell was in a corner, under the cover of his gun, McCray waited for the opening of the doors.

When James Anderson, a flagman, noticed the colored man, he failed to come out of the bank and heading toward the bank, a group of villagers armed with a collection of firearms. Several shots were fired when McCray was seen at a basement window. He then threw his revolver out to the waiting men and fled. Kradwell told them he would give himself up.

SUMMER PRODUCE STILL PLENTIFUL

Hangs on in Stores Like Summer Weather—Fall Fruits Also Here.

Summer fruits and vegetables of many varieties hang on as tenaciously as the summer weather, and a glance at local markets, except for the quantities of apples and pumpkins would make one think it was still midsummer.

In addition to the best of the mid-summer fruits—peaches, bananas, peaches, watermelons and cantaloupes—the fall fruits are also here in quantities—grapes, apples and the vegetables such as pumpkins, cranberries, squash and rutabagas.

Pears, cheapest in years, are still good and moderate enough in price—$1.45 per bushel—for canning, in smaller quantities, they sell, the Kiefer variety, for 40 cents a pound and in some places around 30 and 25 cents a pound. Peaches are also moderate, costing $2.45 up to $3 per bushel. By a small basket, 20 cents a basket and 27, 30, and 35 cents a dozen is being asked.

Grapefruit is excellent. Grapefruit sells for 10 cents apiece, excellent for the time of year. Oranges, still out of season, save some down to 40 cents a dozen. Some stores are handling a new variety of watermelon, winter watermelon, which is excellent. Fifty cents each is asked. The same stores are selling honeydew melons, large and sweet, for 25 and 35 cents each.

The weather gives a little cooler and fall advances, more stores receive oysters. The price asked in the majority of stores handling them is 40 cents a pint, 75 cents a quart.

Apples are increasing in the number of varieties and in the quantity of each. Almost every variety of apple grown in the west can be released here now. Prices range from 4 to 8 cents a pound. In the bushel there is a corresponding range, with more of the cheaper ones being sold by the bushel for canning. The expensive Jonathan apples and similar varieties are more often sold in lots of a few pounds.

Cranberries 16 to 18 Cents. The autumn season is past, but they are still a popular fruit, selling at 75 and 85 cents per large basket, 15, 20, and 25 cents a dozen. Tokay and Malaga grapes bring 15 and 20 cents per pound.

Cranberries, one of the newest of the fall produce bring 16 and 18 cents per pound. Lemons are still 50 cents a dozen.

Other vegetables now in market, are sweet potatoes, 7 and 8 cents a pound; tomatoes, 4 and 5 cents per pound; cabbage, 5 cents per large head; carrots, beets and rutabagas.

HAGGART HEADS NEW WATER BOARD

Rehberg Elected Secretary at First Meeting of Recently Established Commission.

Harry S. Haggart, president of the First National bank, was unanimously elected president of the new city water works board at its organization meeting late Thursday afternoon in the mayor's office at the city hall.

Amos Rehberg was chosen secretary. Other members of the board are Joseph M. Connors, Charles Eller and E. A. Kemmure. All attended the first meeting except Mr. Kemmure. Although the matter of appointing a water plant manager was discussed, it was decided to make no appointment until the next meeting. City Engineer C. V. Kerch is the present manager and Herbert A. Griffey is superintendent.

Mr. Connors was delegated to meet with City Attorney Roger C. Cunningham to draw up a set of by-laws to govern the new organization's procedure. Mr. Eller acted as temporary chairman of the meeting and City Clerk E. J. Sarrell as temporary secretary. City Attorney Cunningham explained to members what their work will be.

Williams Bay Has Tax Plea Hearing

Elkhorn—Some of the tax payers of the village of Williams Bay petitioned the state tax commission for a re-assessment, and the matter was heard in the town hall, Wednesday, Judge C. D. Ross of the commission, presided and numerous witnesses were examined. The matter was adjourned to Oct. 18 at Madison, at which time the commission will decide whether or not the petition will be granted. The principal contention seems to be as to whether or not the lake shore property is equitably assessed.

LITTLE PIECES OF LIFE HERE AND THERE.

A hard working man in Chicago surrounded by moonshine and an appetite for drink committed suicide because, as he said, "too much whiskey." A Janesville man withdrew $400 from the bank and started out on a bootleg spree. He got some six pints of poison sold to him in Janesville at three places, he claims, and after a day or so was apprehended by a son in South Janesville—a part of the city environment which has needed a house cleaning several times in its history. The father was on the way to Beloit where there is additional whiskey and greater freedom. Most of the $400 was recovered and put back in the bank. Those are two stories in real life. There are others being written daily. Mr. McCutcheon in one of his cartoons shows the advocate of light wines and beers making an address for liquors but as opposing the saloon, when a man from the audience questions him as to where the booze is to be sold if not from a saloon. For mind you, all the agents and advocates of the brewer interests who clamor for light wines and beer say and swear, and reiterate that they are not for the saloon. But the question is still pertinent that if wine and beer is to be sold, from what places is it to be sold?
No one has answered. Which brings us back to the story of the Janesville man who started on a bootleg spree. A Janesville advocate of light wines and beer, when told of the incident, said that it was an argument in favor of light wines and beer because had they been obtainable the man could have arrived at a state of alcoholic exaltation without imperiling his bank account and his health from bootleg whiskey. This is specious argument. From a knowledge of events had there been these opportunities for open purchase of alcoholic liquor, there would have been no $400, most of which is still intact. Also at what kind of a place would it have been made possible to buy the liquor if we are to have no more saloons? About the only honest persons who discuss this subject from the beer and wine side, are those who are willing to say that they favor the return of the saloon and the license system.
They realize however that they would get nowhere along these lines of argument so thoroughly disgraced is the saloon.

While we have established the three mile limit on booze the colling still remains the poker limit on the Atlantic steamers.

DISEASE AND DANCE HALLS

Knowing that dance halls are the means of spreading disease and that many a girl with tu-bercular germs crowding her system and many a man with this and other diseases contagious and communicable, go to dances, the Kansas City welfare officer has instituted an examination system to be carried out for the protection of those who attend dances. In order also that dances shall not be centers for liquor violations and scenes of disorder and drunkenness any person suspected of carrying liquor to a dance will be searched and the Henry Ford method of detection by smelling the breath be used. Mochoh on the breath will call for election and persistence in returning will be followed by an arrest. The dance hall is a prolific place for disease dissemination as well as evasion of the liquor law. Most of the devils in the rural districts comes from unregulated dance halls. Much of it in the city has the same incident. But in addition to the moral question there is the one of the spread of disease with no regulation whatsoever as a rule.

Whenever base ball gets back into public favor there is always someone to give it a black eye.

AN EPISODE THAT WILL NOT DIE.

Twenty-four years ago in March, Capt. Charles E. Clark commanding the battleship Oregon left San Francisco on his way around Cape Horn to the Atlantic. War with Spain was imminent.
On May 2 he arrived at Rio Janeiro and learned that we were at war and that Dewey had won the battle of Manila Bay. He was also told that four of the fleetest ships of the Spanish navy had left for West Indian waters and he was very apt to meet the enemy. Capt. Clark did not hesitate. He told the navy department that he was ready to meet the four and had no doubt of the result. Sixty-eight days after he left San Francisco he steered the Oregon into Jupiter Inlet on the east coast of Florida. It was an amazing and bold voyage skillfully accomplished. Clark won a place in the heart of America by that exploit.
It need never be repeated for there is now the Panama canal and wireless telegraph and a number of other devices for making navigation safer and communicating while at sea with other friendly ships. That the Oregon was a fighting ship was demonstrated when Admiral Cervera attempted to get away and the Oregon finished the Admiral's cruiser. It seems an age since this all occurred.

LOT OF THE COAL MINER

OF FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Luich, Ky.—The lot of the coal miner may be learned by seeing him at work and seeing how he lives, by seeing his home, his wife and children.
In a typical Kentucky coal mine the miner earns his bread and everything that goes with it. Yet he enjoys a sense of freedom. He may go where he likes and be assured of good wages, and the labor turnover in Kentucky mines is large and small large ones especially, shows he does go when he likes, and he likes to go often. Why so, inasmuch as he does not better himself by going? For the same reason that a domestic servant, weary of washing another woman's dishes, moves on to a job no better.

It is necessary for a tall man to bend almost double in the tunnels which lead to the rooms in which miners work. The tunnels are dark and it is necessary to be careful not to touch an electric wire overhead which runs the mine trolley cars. Miners get used to the stooping position and grow contemptuous of the live wire. One strong man grew faintly to believe the wire would hold him and in a spirit of bravado, took hold of it. The wire did not stay him, but left him alive as it is to teach him a lesson. It visited upon him for life the grim jest of an uncertain Titan.

A man who does hard manual labor in an isolated room opening upon a tunnel which runs a half mile to daylight on a mountainside ought to be well paid. A man whose hair does not stand on end when he removes coal which has been left in the form of pillars, till the vein has been robbed, and sees the mountain settle in front of him and close the opening that has been made, has the admiration of his fellows. Occasionally an error is made in a three-line report in the press that a miner was killed, and leaves a widow and numerous children weeping in a cottage in a coal camp.

There are other causes of occasional fatalities, but the statistics of mining do not show the occupation extremely hazardous. The miner is exposed to no extremes of temperature. His work is done in an atmosphere not unlike that of Mammoth cave, so well are modern mines ventilated.

After a short day's work the miner is free to enjoy life in such a climate as health seekers go far to enjoy. All of the conveniences and most of the luxuries of life in a first class city are provided. The miner's residence is near everything his wife wants in the way of table and household supplies. Necessary expense of living is not high.
The rapidly with which money is spent by miners and their families indicates wealth above that of a majority of skilled laborers, including those engaged in occupations such as bridge carpentry and outside painting on city buildings, which are as hazardous as mining. The miner who has come out of the mine covered with coal dust, caked on by perspiration, goes to a bath-house which compares favorably with that of the Y. M.
C. A. in Washington or New York. Afterward he may be seen playing billiards or attending a picture show, attired like a business man, or idling on the street in khaki. His wife and his children nearly always are well dressed, and nothing is too good or too costly for the family table.

Some observers claim that in the Kentucky coal fields men are more restless where they are the best housed, best fed, and best amused. The reason ascribed is that the miners in the great coal camps feel no sort of allegiance to the soil, no matter how long their residence at a given camp, while miners in many of the smaller operations have a love of home which keeps them there.

Visitors are impressed especially with the living conditions and the apparent loyalty of the miners at Stearns, a timber and coal operation which has its administration buildings on the Cincinnati Southern railroad, near the Tennessee line.
Here the miners are given, under stipulated conditions, opportunity to acquire surface rights to land. They may build their cottages and own them and live in them in the style to which Kentucky mountaineers are accustomed. The result is that a great proportion of the miners here are natives. Their log cabins peep from the pines in various situations so picturesque that they look as if they had built for a movie camera to "shoot." They are wholly without the conveniences which make a miner's home in a modern camp much like an apartment in Chicago or New York. Wives of miners here "pack water from the springs" in native vernacular, feed pigs in a pen and keep chickens. They know the hardship of strenuous labor, but seemingly they have the idea of a home, and their men share their local attachment.

In Floyd county, in the Big Sandy valley, native miners predominate. There are no camps in this region that could be called snow places of Kentucky coal fields. But native miners, resenting the intrusion of foreigners, are inclined to remain in one place. So greatly do they resent the presence of outsiders, that importing labor into this field may cause bloody clashes.

In the model camps a miner owns nothing but his household goods. That as a rule he acquires at the company store after arrival. Often he sells it and leaves it when he moves. Nothing binds him to the place. He goes like a city lodger, leaving one furnished room to take a similar one in another street.

At Himerille, on the Tug River, in Martin county, across the stream from Kismet, W. Va., there is a settlement of miners which attracts considerable attention because it represents the first experiment in cooperative mining.

The Himerille operation is a small one compared with those in West Virginia, across Tug river, or in Kentucky. It is a project of Martin Himler, well known in America and in Europe as a Hungarian journalist and welfare worker for his fellow Hungarians here and elsewhere. Mr.
Himler, the owner and publisher of "Magyar Banzap," a New York newspaper for Hungarians, conceived the idea of a coal mine worked by wage owners who would own the mine jointly, participate in the dividends, and own their homes. Himerville is a Hungarian community of several hundred, set down in the hills in which the Hatfields and McCoys fought their bloody feuds, and across a river from the state in which the fight between miners and operators has attracted national attention.

Himerille may be the means of providing an illustration of the possibilities of the cooperative idea applied to mining, but it is not at all likely that its success would affect greatly the circumstances of coal digging in the Kentucky and the West Virginia fields. The coal barons will continue to be the large operators because large operations demand large capital.

The ex-kaiser has demonstrated his ability to Missouri is having a real campaign and the wet and dry question is to receive an airing. Senator Reed has declared himself wet and Brewster, the republican candidate, says he will never vote for a repeal of the 18th amendment. With St.

Louis wet and Kansas City wetter, it remains to be seen how strong the country vote is in its support of a dry candidate.

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE MOON
Last night our baby saw the moon.
A wondrous ball of yellow gold.
It seemed to her a toy balloon Which she had strength enough to hold.
And so she reached her arms above As babies always have done.
She wanted it to keep and love—
The moon's great magic had begun.

Here is the monarch of our dreams, From innocence to worldly wise.
This gentle, peaceful, planet seems To lure us ever to the skies.
The moving tide of men he draws In spite of all the battles fought.
The selfish striving for a cause,
To lofty dreams and nobler thought.

He seems to hold a regal sway Over the hearts and minds of all.
The scholar, worn and bowed and gray, Turns when the shades of evening fall In that glorious flood of light.
See what his lips can never teach.
Visions of beauty and of right Which he has hope some day to reach.

The moon is father of our dreams.
He holds us all within his sway.
Into our clouded minds he streams To wash the doubts and fears away.
And like the babe who reaches out Small hands to grasp this treasure great, So grows our eyes where about Look to the moon and dream and wait.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

NO, THANK YOU.
I wouldn't be a president.
I'm just a common job.
I wouldn't be a president.
And keep by present job.

I'd rather sit and eat and sleep And knock to beat the band Than travel down to Washington And rule this mighty land.

I'd rather sit and nurse my schemes For modest goals of wealth;
And smoke my pipe and dream my dreams And keep my robust health.

have to pay for it and can get up and leave

Well, maybe that's the cat's meow for them

It likely wins the diamond studded music wa-

Hurdy-Gurdy Tony's plenty good enough for me When cranking his hand organ grand out

Who's Who Today

JUDGE J. W. WILLETT.

The recent election of Judge J. W. Willett of Tama, Ia., as commander in chief of the G. A.
R. brings to mind the part the Union naval forces played in the Civil war.

Illinois. When the call was made for more naval volunteers in 1863 Judge Willett enlisted at Cleveland, Ohio.
For a time he served on the receiving ship Clara Dolson at Mound City, Ill. When his training course was completed he was ordered to the gun-boat U. S. S. Springfield, a member of the Mississippi fleet. His conduct won him promotion to boatswain's mate. He received his honorable discharge September 30, 1864.

Judge Willett has had a long and active career at the bar, although injuries sustained during the war service caused blindness. He has practiced law in Iowa for fifty years and is now serving as the third judge of the Southern Iowa judicial district.
His election at the recent re-nomination at Des Moines was without opposition.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO
Oct. 6, 1882—Today, the last day of the great Rock County fair here, has been a great success.
Although the crowds were not as large as on preceding days, it was estimated that 5,000 people attended. The Myers theater was crowded last night and people were turned away. The Herbert combination is appearing all week.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
Oct. 6, 1892—Francis Sheenmaker, New York, has been booked to give an address at the rouling republican meeting at the Myers theater next Monday night. One hundred and thirty people in the Beloit Janesville road race for bicycles Oct. 15. Milwaukee is sending the largest delegation.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Oct. 6, 1902—Blair and Summers, local builders, have secured the contract for the new plant of the new Janesville road race for bicycles. Work is to start at once. Manager Farnsworth said. There are to be three buildings. James Shearer will have charge of the stone and masonry work.

TEN YEARS AGO
Oct. 6, 1912—Miss Bertha Allen and Errol Winters were married in Milwaukee. It has been announced. A mass meeting of all girls and young women of the city has been called for tomorrow at the library to form an Auxiliary to the Political Equality League of Rock county.
Local committees are making arrangements for the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs to be held here next week.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

IS CHOLERA MORBUS?

ADD to the list of diseases we have already consigned to the realms of mythology (the hypothetical diseases conceived by the old timers under the name of "cholera morbus." That list is acquiring considerable length.

Belonged folks do not take "cold" nor "stomach" in that delusion. To call plain "stomach trouble" brings sorrow and confusion. "Nervous breakdown" tells no tale, but merely begs the question. A doctor earns no honor kate by springing "indigestion," "stomach trouble" or "nervous breakdown" should seldom take, but all that happens if they do is plain old belly ache.

Belly ache or cramps associated with vomiting and perhaps diarrhea for a few hours can happen all right, if a child under 6 years of age eats some raw fruit, especially if the fruit is not ripened enough. Nothing alarming in the rebellion of nature against the unripe food. When our bowels are cases far away in which children actually succumb to cholera morbus we must discount the stories, allowing about 99 per cent off for the inventive imagination of the reporter. These alleged fatalities from "cholera morbus" are of the same class as the "heat prostrations" in cities when a spell of warm weather arrives; the fatal period never occurs. There is no "heat prostration" attributable to weather in the United States or Canada, but many invalids or semi-invalids succumb to whatever ailments and the nimble reporter eagerly seizes on another case of "heat prostration."

Cholera morbus, the hypothetical or imaginary condition, gives some parons much needless anxiety. There is nothing at all sinister about the condition, and it is not invariably successful from indulging in raw or unripe fruit. Just a bit of belly ache with trimmings, in no wise comparable with actual (Asiatic) cholera, and not in the least like so-called "cholera infantum" in cause or effect. The only dreadful thing about "cholera morbus" is the misleading name for belly ache.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Cold-Shower Bath.
I take a cold shower bath every morning after my exercise. Would like to know if cold shower baths cause consumption or injury health in any way. Is it safe to continue them through the winter months? I am 27 years old and underweight for my height, 5 feet 10 inches. (B. B. H.) Answer—Cold shower baths do not cause consumption or injury health in any way, if you enjoy the terrible cold shower and feel refreshed with the reaction. It is as safe to take cold shower baths in the winter months as in the summer. I can not recommend cold bathing for persons who are underweight.

Please tell me how I can destroy a wart near my nose, below the corner of my eye. (Miss A. A. H.) Answer—The only safe way is to consult a physician and let him remove it. Do not attempt to remove it yourself or any similar lesion about the face.

Washing the Hair.
Is it harmful to wash my hair twice a week? It is very oily and is falling out quite a bit. So far I have washed it once a week. (Miss A. A. H.) Answer—No. Wash it as often as necessary to keep it clean, but use mild soap and tepid water to remove all the soap.

The Bath Suits Delusion.
Does bathing suits help to reduce?
(L. C.)
Answer—No.

Training for Basketball.
I am beginning to train for basketball. I am a girl 17 years old. What foods will give me strength and endurance? And what foods should I avoid? What do you think of basketball for girls? My mother and grandmother are both highly opposed to all athletics for girls. They say I am ruining myself for arthritis. (Mary B. H.)

Answer—No particular foods give strength or endurance. But every athlete must eat well and train well.
I think basketball is fine for girls, and you may rest assured that your mother and grandmother are only a good influence upon your whole womanly life.

Q. Is it true that more plants die from improper watering than from other causes? F. R. H.

A. A report recently issued by the Purdue university agricultural station says this is true. It recommends the following: Water thoroughly and allow the soil to dry out until it is only well moistened (just before it crumbles and cracks), before watering again. Water your plants when they need it and do not go by the calendar. It may be twice a week, or once a day, depending on the temperature and humidity of the air in the room, and the size and vigor of the plant. Each pot will require its own particular amount of water. Never allow plants in jardiniere and bowls to stand in water for any length of time. In addition to the regular watering, plants will respond to refreshing showers. But when in the bathroom, kitchen sink, or cellar during the winter, or out of doors during the summer, and wash off the leaves, palm may be killed with water and sponges or soft rags. This removes the dirt and grease which clogs the breathing pores of the leaves. During the summer it is an excellent plan to put the plant out during the night.

WOULD REVIVE INTEREST IN HOME CREDIT PLAN
O. D. Antisdel, county superintendent of school districts, has been revived in the plan inaugurated several years ago under which credit on school grounds in agriculture and hygiene is given to the performance of practical duties at home. Parents are provided with report slips on which to keep the record of work done. At the end of each month a report slip is sent to the teacher. Statements showing the total number of credits earned during the year by 8th grade pupils is sent by the teacher to the county superintendent who allows a certain amount of credit for the final examination grades. The teacher is authorized to give credit to pupils of other grades. If a boy feeds and water the chickens, drives up the cows or horses, milks the cows, or does any of a dozen other "chores," he receives credit therefor. If his sister washes and wipes the dishes, makes a bed, cleans a lamp, blackens a stove, makes bread or performs other useful and necessary home tasks, she will receive a better grade in agriculture. A pupil may fall down on giving a correct description of the circulatory system or the process of digestion, but still win a passing grade if he or she has promoted home sanitation by sweeping, dusting or scrubbing, and advanced the cause of personal hygiene by frequent bathing, tooth brushing, early rising, sleeping with the window open, and drinking milk at breakfast. The keeping of home records means a little extra work for the mother, but this will be more than offset by the readiness with which the children perform tasks knowing that the work done will help them win better school grades. Mothers who are willing to keep such records may obtain the necessary blanks from the teacher.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS
In an article on "Systematic Description of the Home" in the Golden Rule Magazine, Dr. William A. McKee offers some practical suggestions that might well be utilized by parent-teacher associations or other groups interested in child welfare. He says:

"Advance the idea of giving every child in the home some form of special training to be considered as his own happy bedtime or occasional practice. Music, painting, dramatic instruction, calisthenics, story writing, artistic design, cabinet making, and the like may be included. Make a one-page circular of the available periodicals for the home use of the young, including a brief description of the purpose and subject matter of each. Encourage the use of yellow-back books and magazines. Encourage the type of home parties for children and early adolescents as will avoid excess of expense and manners. Discourage the practice of early making of the young person, and the use of those games which accentuate sex consciousness. Suggest books on home games and parties. Encourage the idea of the necessity of the free and generous exchange among parents of ideas, methods and devices of child rearing; that none of the more difficult problems of training be common to any household but common to the inner circles of all normal families. Indicate among parents a sense of one another's need and sympathy. Make it clear that training problems necessarily pass from the privacy of the single home to the publicity of open society and that some kind of league of parents is absolutely necessary for this latter work."

HELP FOR MOTHERS
The State Bureau of Child Welfare will send free a series of monthly communications to any expectant mother who desires information and advice as to personal hygiene and other subjects of importance. Any woman desiring these communications may apply directly to Mrs. Mary P. Foran, state board of health, Madison, or may send the request through the Gazette community editor. Many physicians are sending in names of patients for this service, recognizing that the information furnished will be of great value to all who receive it.

Dinner Stories
A stone carver was on the witness stand describing the way in which he had been assaulted by the defendant. "He walked right into my yard and slammed me up against one of my tombstones," the witness said. "He hurt you?" inquired the court. "Hurt me?" roared the witness. "Why, I've not feared to the memory of stamped all down my back!"

A new prison chaplain had just been appointed. He had his ideas as to the importance of his office. During his first round of inspection he came to a prisoner in a very pompous manner said to the prisoner who occupied it. "Well, my man, do you know who I am?"

"No, and I don't care," came the northern drawl. "The witness said," "Well, I'm your new chaplain." "Oh, you are?" said the man. "I have heard of you before."

"What did you hear?" inquired the chaplain, forgetting his dignity in his curiosity. "Well, I heard that the last two churches you were in you preached them both empty, but I don't think you'll find it any easier matter to do the same thing here," Judge.

The meanest man on record is said to live in Shrewsbury, Mass. He sold his son-in-law on a milk cow, maintaining that he sold only the front half. The buyer was also required to feed the cow and carry water to her three times a day. Recently the cow hooked the old man and now he is suing his son-in-law for damages.

GRAIN

Chicago Review.
Chicago.—Disquieting news regarding the Turkish situation led to a moderate upturn in the wheat market Friday during early dealings. Bullish sentiment, however, was checked by dispatches from London asserting that the outlook was still for peace, although intervals of anxiety were in evidence. Export demand continued active. The opening, which ranged from 4c to 1c higher, with Dec. $1.07 to $1.08, and May $1.09 to $1.10, was followed by a reaction, wiping out most of the initial gains.
Corn was under considerable selling pressure and failed to sympathize with the upturn in wheat. After opening unchanged to 1c lower, Dec. settled at $1.10, the market hardened a trifle and then suffered moderate general setback.
Oats started 1/2c to 1c higher, Dec.
$1.00 and later underwent a general fall.
Provisions reflected strength in hogs.

Cheese Market.
Chicago.—The cheese market ruled firm on all styles Thursday. Both small and wholesale trade was active on the whole, but was principally from out of town sources. Prices were well maintained with some good lots of twins reported. A choice over. Wednesday's figures. Held cheese continued firm with a fairly active trade restricted to certain channels. Some trade discrimination against held cheese.

FINANCE

Wall Street Review.
New York.—Disquieting news dispatches from the Near East induced profit taking by recent buyers and resulted in a general decline in the market at the opening session of Friday's market. Active weakness of stocks, however, was not reflected in most of the other recently buoyant indexes. Losses of one to nearly three points were registered by Standard Oil of California, Mexican Petroleum, California Petroleum and General Asphalt. Marine preferred, which was strong Thursday on reports of extra earnings for the third quarter, spun down Friday, losing 2 1/2 points in the first half hour. Other weak spots were Studebaker, Iron Products, At-tala, Baldwin and Coca Cola. There were a few exceptions to the downward trend. U. S. Rubber first preferred advanced a point on declaration of its usual dividend and Pierce Oil preferred advanced 1 1/2 points. Wool worth and Oil Refraction broke through to new high records on small gains.

The complexion of the market underwent a rapid change before noon when a remarkable series of bullish demonstrations were staged in a number of high priced specialties. The maneuver threw the "boards" into a momentary panic and there was a mad rush to get back stocks sold at the opening, resulting in an almost general cancellation of early losses. Standard of N. J. jumped from 21 1/2 to 23 1/2, a new high, and Tidewater Oil moved up 1/2 to a new top in expectation of a resumption of dividends. Peak prices also were established by Equi-tor Oil. Wall Street's general May Department Stores, Fisher Body, National Biscuit and United Fruit, the gains ranging from 3 to nearly 20 points.

DIXONISM LEADING ISSUE IN MONTANA

Politics There in Muddle As Elsewhere: Harding Opposition Absent.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 5.—Politics in Montana, as in Iowa, Wisconsin and North Dakota, is topsy-turvy. Persons—and not parties—are dominant. There are no national issues.

Whether a man labeled republican or another labeled democrat goes to the United States senate turns on state issues, and here, as in North Dakota, the democratic candidate is a conservative while the man who won the republican primaries is tied up with the radical elements to such an extent that old line republicans will be found supporting the democratic ticket in large numbers.

Speaking of persons instead of parties, Governor Joseph Dixon is responsible for the upheaval in Montana. He will be remembered as having represented this state in the United States senate and as one of the original insurgents who managed Col. Roosevelt's pre-convention fight for the presidency in 1912.

Electing Two Years Ago
He was elected governor two years ago on the regular republican ticket. He won many democratic votes because he was considered a conservative as compared with D. K. Wheeler, former U. S. attorney, who with the help of the Non-Partisan league, became the democratic nominee for governor.

Today Mr. Wheeler is running for the United States senate and the old line democrats are behind him. Although he had a background of radicals to overcome, he sat down with the regular democratic organization and a platform was formulated which is eminently satisfactory not only to conservative democrats but conservative republicans. This is because the democrats have aimed their platform at Governor Dixon's radical tax policies which, so far as conservatives are concerned, stamp Mr. Dixon as more of a radical than they thought Mr. Wheeler ever could be.

Revolution Around Dixon
The fight here is really pro-Dixon or anti-Dixon. The governor has forced up his mind to levy heavy taxes on the mining industry and is attempting to justify it on the ground of increased expense in running the state. The democrats are shouting economy of expenditure and relief from burdensome taxation. In order to hit at Dixon, who is campaigning energetically to get a state legislature elected friendly to his policies, many republicans will vote for democratic candidates right down the line, with one or two exceptions. Former Congressman Evans, democrat, is one of the exceptions. He has endorsed the tax program of Republican Governor Dixon.

To add to the confusion, J. W. Anderson, who polled about 16,000 votes out of 70,000 in the republican primaries for United States senate, came purely on the platform of dissatisfaction with the Harding administration. He carried his antipathy to President Harding so far as to announce that he will support D. K. Wheeler, the democratic nominee for the senate. Riddick Minority Choice Carl Riddick, the republican nominee for the senate, was a minority choice in the primaries. He came from the ultra-radical group and was a member of the Non-Partisan league. He poses as a conservative and the friend of President Harding. Governor Dixon is quietly keeping one out of the senatorial fight but the expectation is that he and Riddick will sooner or later get together.

Mr. Wheeler's chances of victory in the senate are slim. He is a coalition of both progressive and conservative inclination. Regular republicans are all those who will vote for state candidates who are opposed to the Dixon program. In the primaries, Mr. Dixon's men won the republican nomination in half the number of legislative districts.

War on Dixonism
Here, as in North Dakota, the voter will have to do a good deal of scratching to accomplish his purposes. Instead of voting for or against the non-partisan league, as was the case two years ago, the effort is to support or destroy Dixonism. Gov. Dixon has built up quite a powerful machine not unlike that of La Follette in Wisconsin and Hiram Johnson in California. It is supposed he wants to go back to the United States senate two years hence when Senator Walsh, democrat, will be up for re-election. Although the republicans polled 70,000 votes and the democrats only half that number in the recent primaries, there is a divided opinion as to the meaning of the result. Some hold the view that the overwhelming republican administration will mean the election of Riddick, republican, as United States senator by a comfortable margin. Others insist that owing to the splendid harvest thousands of farmers didn't have time to go to the polls in the rural districts and that many who voted in the republican primaries did so out of personal friendship for the many candidates entered in that race.

Disaffection Night
One thing is clear in Montana. The wave of disaffection with the Harding administration, which is noticeable further east, has hardly produced a ripple in Montana. It is true many democrats who deserted their party in 1920 because of their opposition to the league of nations, have come back to democracy's ranks, but it is good strategy for a republican here to point with pride to the Harding administration and solicit votes on a stand-by-the-administration platform.

This state was carried by Woodrow Wilson in 1916 by about 50,000 votes; it went for Warren Harding in 1920 by the same majority. The pendulum swung evenly from one party to the other.

State issues will diminish the republican majority and may even send Wheeler, a democrat, into the senate, though the chances are rather against such an outcome.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS BURNS 94% AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal-oil).

The inventor, F. D. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Watertown.—With 722 students enrolled to date, the Watertown normal school has the largest enrollment in its history. The following statistics show the enrollment in 10 year periods from the date of the establishment of the normal school to the present time: 1868, 172; 1878, 715; 1888, 332; 1898, 386; 1908, 517; 1918, 595; 1922, 722.

The above figures show that the biggest stride has been made during the last four years. Much of the increase is due to the establishment of the commercial course, although this year has shown an increase in enrollment in all of the courses. The enrollment for the different courses is as follows: Commercial, 278; primary, 191; three year high school, 67; grammar grades, 49; business, 47; rural, 41; special, 3; principals, 6; normal high school, 162.

JEFFERSON

Jefferson.—Another case was taken from circuit court jury Thursday afternoon, when the court ordered a direct verdict in the case of the state of Wisconsin vs. Fred O. Krueger, proprietor of a soft drink parlor at Watertown, discharging the defendant.

Krueger was charged with destroying evidence when officers raided his place July 18 and for having liquor in his possession. The raid was conducted by Ray C. Twining, together with Officer Zimmerman, Watertown and detectives of the Russell agency. All they found was a piece of a broken bottle containing a very small quantity of liquor and a strong odor from the sink led them to believe that the liquor was poured into it when the officers raided the place. They did not have any direct evidence against Krueger.

The state called upon several witnesses in presenting the case. Attorney Otto C. Hahn, Watertown, Horace Anderson, a chemist, Madison, who analyzed the contents of the bottle, William Cody, a druggist and chemist, Watertown, District Attorney Ray C. Twining, H. M. Larnert and Thomas Hayes, detectives, were called to the stand and gave testimony for the state. William Cody was the only witness presented for the defendant. He testified that perhaps some medicine or liniment was poured into the sink and thus produced the odor which the officers believed to be liquor.

After the state closed its case the defendant was dismissed by Judge Grimm, because of insufficient evidence.

The case against William Whitton, Watertown, and Otto Winkelmann were noted by District Attorney Twining, with the former paying $40 costs. The latter was dismissed without cost.

Following the dismissal of the above cases the jury was dismissed until 2 p. m. Monday.
